

SIX ARRESTS FOR VIOLATION OF LID ORDER ON SUNDAY

EAST NEWARK DEALER CAUGHT FOR CRIME OF SELLING A LOAF OF BREAD.

ALL DEFENDANTS WILL FIGHT

One Dealer Caught Selling Bread Went Out and Made Few Purchases Herself.

- G. A. Baughman, candy, fruit, etc., North Side Square.
- J. A. Jackson, milk depot, East Main street.
- Louis Jeffers, ice cream parlor, East Main street.
- Clelia Marcom, milk depot, East Main street.
- Joseph Giorgetti, candy, fruit, etc., West Side Square.
- E. P. Clayton, clerk, Erman's drug store, East Main street.
- Christ Baruxes, Sparta Confectionery Store, West Side.

The pressure under Mayor McCleery's lid was too great Sunday and even the weight of such a corpulent gentleman as his honor was not sufficient to hold it down and there were many leaks reported to the police. Not only were such reports made but there were six of the dealers who were unfortunate enough to be caught selling the forbidden fruits to those who neglected to make their purchases Saturday night.

In some cases the arrests were the results of the effort of the victim to accommodate some one who was caught unexpectedly without enough provender in the house. Others resulted from a little spite work, and still others came from the efforts of the police to get evidence against the dealers who were trying to "buck" the order.

George Baughman was probably the first man to feel the coils of the law-tightening about him. An ally of Chief Sheridan went into Baughman's store on the North Side and purchased a bag of candy. A few minutes later an officer appeared and Baughman was taken down to the police station, but was allowed to give bail for his appearance Monday.

Joseph Giorgetti came next and was put through the same process after having sold candy, etc., to the wrong individual. The officers returned to arrest Christ Baruxes, proprietor of the Sparta Confectionery store, who sold candy and cigars to the plain clothes man who was working for the chief. Baruxes became frightened, however, after seeing his next door neighbor taken down and the store was closed up by the time the officers got back. An affidavit was filed against the man Monday morning by Chief Sheridan and he will appear with the rest of the victims Monday afternoon before the mayor.

Captain David Griffith of the East Newark Hose company was unwittingly the cause of the arrest of Clelia Marcom who operates a milk depot in East Newark. Mrs. Marcom also keeps bread for sale, but heretofore has not attempted to violate the mayor's orders by selling it. Sunday, however, Mr. Griffith explained that his wife was caught unexpectedly by company coming to the house and instructed her husband to bring a loaf of bread home with him.

Mr. Griffith succeeded in getting Mrs. Marcom to sell him a loaf of bread and the violation came to the ears of the police who required Mrs. Marcom to give bond with the rest.

Mrs. Marcom did not like the idea of suffering for the offense while others were allowed to remain open, so she tried the little game herself and went to the Erman drug store in East Newark and bought from E. P. Clayton, the clerk in charge, a bar of Good Hair soap. It was not long before Officer Hagar came to the drug store and took Mr. Clayton to the police station where he gave bond for his appearance.

Louis Jeffers and J. A. Jackson, both of East Main street, were arrested for selling goods other than necessities on Sunday. Jackson operates a milk depot while Jeffers runs an ice cream parlor.

All the cases will be prosecuted under the common labor law which forbids any merchant to open or cause to be opened, his place of business for the sale of goods other than necessities or in cases of charity or extreme necessity.

The cigar dealers say that the stand in the Warden Hotel was given permission by the mayor to sell cigars to the guests, and that this is contrary to the law as well as any other dealer who sells on Sunday. It is on this ground that the people will fight the case.

After the first few arrests, nearly every place in town closed up for the rest of the day. At night the lid had resumed its normal position and there were no leaks.

The cases came up for hearing on Monday afternoon, and upon the request of Attorney C. W. Montgomery, for the defendants, the date of hearing was set for Wednesday at 3 a. m.

Mayor McCleery dismissed the case against Mr. Jackson on the ground that the selling of a single loaf of bread in this case did not constitute a violation. The case against Mr. Erman was also dismissed, it being claimed that the Good Hair soap which was sold and for which the arrest was made, was sold for medicinal purposes.

DEFIED THE MAYOR.
Marion, O., Jan. 7.—Practically every restaurant keeper in the city kept his place of business open Sunday in defiance of Mayor Scherff's order that all restaurants and lunch rooms in connection with saloons should obey the Sunday and midnight closing ordinance.

The mayor states that arrests will be made today. The restaurant men say that they will fight the case in court, their claim being that the mayor has not right to keep their places closed.

PRESIDENT MCGREA TO END GRAFTING IN PENNSY COMPANY

New York, Jan. 7.—James McGrea, the new president of the Pennsylvania railroad, was elected for the purpose of putting an end to the "grafting" reported to have been predicted in the management of the road for years. This is the declaration made today by the World.

Practically a page is devoted to an expose of the alleged "grafting" on the part of Pennsylvania road officials and employees. This evil, the World says, President McGrea is to combat. His task is described as monumental.

Favoritism, in the awarding of contracts for supplies to companies in which railroad men are directly or indirectly interested, is charged as the method by which "grafting" has been conducted. It is pointed out that several officers of the road, although drawing salaries none too large, have been able to retire independently rich.

Council Bluffs, Ia., Jan. 7.—One passenger dead and three injured are the results of an accident that befell the Northwestern Los Angeles Limited train No. 8, when a Pullman sleeper caught fire while the train was running from Council Bluffs to Missouri Valley, en route to Chicago. The Northwestern train had got within a mile of Loveland when passengers in the Pullman car Redfield were aroused by smoke. The origin of the fire could not be determined, but it had been undoubtedly smoldering for some time before being discovered, as the car was filled with dense smoke, Louis de Lario, 22, whose home is in Laramie, Wyo., but who has for some time held the position of clerk of the house committee on irrigation. He was dead when found. Three others sustained injuries.

OVERDUE STEAMER PONCE STILL MISSING

New York, Jan. 7.—The missing steamer Ponce of the New York and Porto Rico Steamship company, which is about a week overdue at New York en route from Ponce, P. R., was safe and proceeding toward New York two days after leaving Ponce. This information was brought into port by Captain Chapman of the big sailing ship Shenandoah, which arrived from Port Blakely. Captain Chapman reported that the Ponce had probably been disabled by an accident to her machinery and had drifted out of the path of the regular liners from the West Indies, but will be reported or towed into port by some steamer bound from Europe to a southern port.

LINER IN A GALE ONE OF CREW KILLED

New York, Jan. 7.—One of her crew was killed and six others seriously injured when the Cunard liner Etruria was fighting her way through a severe storm on Friday night. The body of the man killed was buried at sea. The injured were in her hospital when the steamer arrived here. Friday night, while the Etruria was plowing through heavy head seas and great waves were breaking over her deck, the lashing on the starboard anchor davits were torn loose. New lashings were put on, but some hours later they broke loose again. The watch of nine men once more started forward to secure them, but just as they completed their task a huge wave swept over the bow, knocking them right and left. James Walker, able seaman, was swept the full length of the forecastle deck and down the stairway leading to the main deck. He struck squarely on the rail at the foot of the stairs and his spine was broken.

DESPERATE FIGHT BETWEEN ROBBER AND AN AGED MAN

OLIVER BUCHHECKER WHO RESIDES ALONE HAS EXCITING EXPERIENCE.

MEN FOUGHT IN DARKNESS

After Lamp Was Knocked From the Table--Robber Got Away With About Five Dollars.

A desperate battle with a brutal robber was fought Sunday night at 6:30 o'clock by Oliver Buchecker or Buchecker, aged 78 years, who lives alone on a 30-acre farm two miles east of Newark in South Madison township. In the fight, the aged man was struck in the head by the butt of a revolver in the hands of the robber and was rendered unconscious for a time and was robbed of all his money which amounted to something over $5.

Mr. Buchecker's story is remarkable. He was sitting alone in his kitchen eating his supper when he heard some one approach the house. The intruder was whispering a lively tune and this put the lone farmer off his guard. Then the rap came at the kitchen door, he opened it readily, thinking it was one of the neighbors. Buchecker was startled therefore to have a big revolver thrust into his face. It was accompanied by a demand for him to turn over all the money and valuables in the house.

Without waiting for a reply to the demand, the robber brushed past Buchecker and entered the kitchen. At this the aged man grappled with the intruder and a rough and tumble fight followed.

For five minutes the two men struggled back and forth across the little room and in the fight, the oil lamp was knocked from the table and the fight continued in the darkness. Feeling that the robber was getting the better of him, Buchecker seized a corn cutter which rested in one corner of the room and dealt the man a powerful blow but failed to find a vital spot and a minute later was himself struck in the head with the butt of the robber's revolver. The old man lay stunned on the floor and feeling that it was useless to continue the struggle, gave the man his money, which amounted to something more than five dollars.

The robber made a short search through the room for other valuables but found nothing and soon left. Within a few minutes Mr. Buchecker was able to walk and went to the home of Dr. D. W. Winters where he reported the affair to the physician. Buchecker insisted that he was not hurt and only wanted the matter reported to the police. He refused to allow the physician to dress his wound which was an ugly gash in the forehead. He returned to his home after assuring Dr. Winters that he was not afraid.

Up until last Friday, Mr. Buchecker's brother resided with him but the man went to Dayton where he entered the soldiers' home, being a civil war veteran. In describing the man to the police, Mr. Buchecker stated that the man was tall and dark. He noticed that the man had thick lips but aside from this he did not notice any peculiarity by which he could be recognized. It is believed by the police that whoever committed the assault and robbery was familiar with the habits of the old man and knew that he was living at the place alone.

FATAL HOTEL FIRE

Delhi, N. Y., Jan. 7.—Three lives were lost in a fire that destroyed the American hotel here. The dead: William Winter, 50, druggist; Mrs. Annie Winter, his wife; John O'Connor, tailor. All were suffocated. They were permanent guests at the hotel. The fire was discovered in the apartments of Mr. Winter and his wife on the third floor, and by the time the firemen arrived the structure was a mass of flames. O'Connor also occupied apartments on the third floor. The other guests escaped by leaping from the windows in their night clothes.

BOMB THROWER IS CLAIMED BY TWO WOMEN

FRIENDS SAY MAN DRIVEN TO DESPERATION BY HIS REVERSES.

INJURED ARE NOW IMPROVING

Negro Messenger Crump Who Was Most Seriously Hurt is Operated Upon.

Philadelphia, Jan. 7.—With both its entrances guarded by uniformed employes and policemen, the Fourth street National bank reopened for business today. Many of the clerks appeared with heads and fingers bandaged. President Rushton, who escaped death by the narrow margin, on Saturday, is at his desk today. William Crump, the colored messenger, will recover but will be blinded for life.

Lynchburg, Va., Jan. 7.—J. R. Steele, who, it is alleged, wrecked the Fourth National bank of Philadelphia by throwing a bomb, and who lost his life at the time, worked here as a concrete construction foreman for several months, and Mrs. Steele and a 10-year-old son were seen at their home. Steele left here Thursday morning early, telling his wife that he was going to Danville, Va., to secure work on a railway construction contract, promising that she should hear from him by Saturday night. There is no doubt in the minds of friends of Steele that the bomb thrower is from this city. Steele failed 10 years ago as a concrete contractor. He has had sickness in his family and had been in debt, and his friends here say Steele probably was driven to desperation by his reverses.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—Mrs. Irene Steele, who claims to be the wife of the alleged Philadelphia bank wrecker, disclaimed all knowledge of the Lynchburg woman who asserted that she was married to Steele some time ago. She declared that she had been married to Steele 14 years, that there had never been any domestic infidelity between them, and that within two weeks she had received a check from Steele for $50 with which to pay her household expenses.

Identity of Bomb Thrower.

Philadelphia, Jan. 7.—With the finding of the personal effects of the man who, when refused $5,000 cash, threw the bomb in the Fourth Street National bank on Saturday, killing Cashier W. Z. McLean and himself, there is little doubt left in the minds of the police officials that he was Rollo Steele of Garner, Iowa. The bomb thrower was found to have slept Friday night at the Grant House, a hotel on the outskirts of the Tenderloin. The man registered as J. S. Steele of New York. When detectives searched the room they found several yards of slow fuse, a number of detonating caps, a revolver, box of cartridges in the grip, together with a number of tools and some clothing. There was a suit bearing the tag of a Chicago clothing house and a pair of overalls marked with the name of a Lynchburg (Va.) merchant. There was also a waybill for a box shipped over the Southern railway. It is probable that none of those hurt by the explosion will die. William J. Crump, the negro messenger in the bank, the most seriously injured, has been operated on.

SHOOTING UP OF BROWNSVILLE

Lodge Amendment to Foraker Resolution Stirs Up Senate.

NEW MATTER IN THE DEBATE

Presidential Right of Dismissal of Soldiers Held by the Senator Buckeye Senator an Irrelevant Question. Immigration Figures For the Past Fiscal Year.

Washington, Jan. 7.—The introduction of Senator Lodge's amendment to Mr. Foraker's resolution will have the effect of injecting a great deal of new matter into the discussion and of shifting the debate from the mere question of facts in connection with the Brownsville affair to the subject of the general right of the president to dismiss soldiers from regular army. As originally presented Senator Foraker's resolution called for an inquiry into the "shooting up" of Brownsville, but if Mr. Lodge's amendment should be accepted it would amount to a declaration of the president's right of dismissal regardless of facts, and on this account will be opposed by some senators who would have stood with the president in opposition to the resolution as originally expressed. On the other hand, some are willing to vote for the amendment who oppose the inquiry. It is quite well understood that Senator Foraker will antagonize the amendment as inopportune, though it is not believed that he would allow its acceptance to stand in the way of his advocacy of the adoption of the resolution. He takes the position that, whatever may be the prerogative of the chief executive in the matter of the dismissal of troops, the question is not pertinent at this time and he will seek to have the two questions of presidential right and of fact separated. Taking the opposite view, Senator Lodge will contend that the president's authority in the matter is of first importance, and in this the Massachusetts senator will be supported by Senator Spooner and a number of other senators on both sides of the chamber. Many of the Democratic senators will favor the Lodge amendment. They support the president's position and are willing to follow his leadership in the entire matter. Senator Foraker will probably be supported by a few Democrats and a large percentage of Republicans.

Immigration Figures.

According to the annual report of the commissioner of immigration, Frank Sargent, the fiscal year ended June 30, 1906, produced a record eclipsing all former figures on immigration. During that period, the report says, the population of the United States was increased by the admission of 1,109,735 immigrant aliens and 65,618 non-immigrant aliens entered at its ports, making the total admission of 1,165,353. The increase over last year's record of 1,059,755 (1,026,499 aliens plus 33,256 transients) was 106,598. During the fiscal year 1905, 11,480 aliens were rejected, and during the past year 12,432. Of the immigrant aliens, that is those who intended settling in the United States, there were 764,463 males and 336,272 females. The tendency of immigration during the past few years to gather its steady increase from the countries of southern Europe is referred to.

"Without exception," says the report, "the countries from which we formerly obtained the greater part of our foreign population and which are inhabited by races nearly akin to our own, have supplied us with smaller numbers during the past year than during 1905—Ireland 17,950, England 15,218, Sweden 3,231, Germany 3,010, Denmark 1,229 and Scotland 1,111 less. On the other hand, the four most considerable gains are: Italy, 51,641; Russia, 20,763; Greece, 8,974, and Turkey (in Europe and Asia), 5,165. Immigration from Austria-Hungary amounted to 265,138; Italy, including Sicily and Sardinia, 273,120; Russian empire and Finland, 215,665; China, 1,544; Japan, 13,835, and the West Indies, 13,656. The immigration from southern and eastern Europe, the commissioner says, is a result of general unrest existing among laboring classes of those sections, which is encouraged or even fomented by the agents scouring the country for passengers, and the commissioner says more drastic measures are required to effect a discontinuance of the steamship practices. That the physical and mental quality of the aliens we are now receiving is much below that of those who have come in former years, he says, is evident. The north Atlantic and north central states together received 90 per cent of the entire immigration of 1906, the south 4 per cent. As in previous years, the bulk of the immigrants were destined exclusively to a few of the large centers of population.

FIREMEN GO BACK TO WORK

Basis of Settlement of Strike Reached by Brotherhood Officials.

MEN RECEDE FROM POSITION

Status of the Striking Engineers on Seniority List Left to a Committee of Brotherhood Engineers—Cause of the Trouble on the Southern Pacific Railroad.

Houston, Tex., Jan. 7.—The strike of the firemen on the Southern Pacific is at an end. The basis of settlement was reached here during a conference between Vice Grand Master Shea for the firemen and Vice Grand Master Willis for the engineers. It is stated that Mr. Shea of the firemen's organization has receded from his position when the strike was declared as to the control of engineer members of his organization, and has gone even further by leaving it to a committee of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers to determine just what the status of the striking engineers will be on the seniority list.

The officials of the firemen's brotherhood, having receded from the demands they made when the strike was declared, or the demands on which the strike was declared, felt that if there was a settlement they should protect those engineers of their organization who left their places and secure for them their standing on the seniority lists at the time of the strike. It was a very delicate problem to be solved, and it is not fully solved yet.

It was learned that the agreement covering this basis of their settlement had been signed by the officials of the two brotherhoods, and that the firemen will go back to work today pending the solution of their seniority by the committee of the locomotive engineers.

TILLMAN TALKS OF COLORED TROOPS

Washington, Jan. 7.—The war department's explanation of its reasons for sending colored troops to the Philippines does not appeal to Senator Tillman. He characterizes the latest order of the department as a "great injustice to the Philippine people."

Discussing the matter today the Senator said:

"The islanders are a conquered people and wards of ours, whom it is our duty to protect, so far as possible from harm of every kind, and if these negro soldiers are too brutal and too dangerous to be stationed among our own people, it is an injustice to inflict them upon the Philippine communities. If we are going to have any negro soldiers, let us keep them at home, where if they commit outrages upon women, we can shoot them, as we ought to do."

DANDELION

a simple remedy for liver trouble and biliousness

The liver is a wonderful organ, always at work filtering, purifying and manufacturing ingredients necessary to life. It is the central laboratory of the body. It plays the part of a natural poison antidote. The poison contained in the decomposing food and waste of the body are arrested by it and rendered harmless. The liver is the seat of manufacture of bile, a fluid that keeps sweet the intestine and aids to digest food. Healthy bile is an antiseptic and when deficient or absent the contents of the bowels become putrid and full of poisonous matter. You can always keep your liver in a healthy condition by using Dr. Edward's Dandelion Tablets or Pills. They act directly upon the liver and produce a healthy flow of bile.

Sunday afternoon the boys held their first Sunday meeting. The delegates of the Springfield convention presented a report of the entire convention. Benjamin Evans deserves special mention for the fine paper he delivered on W. M. Wood's great Electrical Talk to boys.

The captain and managers of all the Grammar school teams are requested to meet with Mr. Ludwig Tuesday at 4 p. m. in the Junior room on the third floor of the Y. M. C. A.

FIREMEN CAUGHT.

Floor of a Burning Building Collapsed. Three Instantly Killed.

New York, Jan. 7.—Three firemen were killed during a fire that burned out the interior of Hill's paper warehouse on Roosevelt street. Just before the third floor of the five-story structure fell the men were ordered out of the building. Firemen Campbell, Siefert and Lennon, who had been working within, failed to respond, and a subsequent roundup established that the three were beyond doubt buried in the ruins. The money loss was about $15,000.

Seven other firemen were injured. The fire was under control when the third floor collapsed, carrying down with it the floors above.

Will Be Taken Into Custody Today, When the Coroner's Final Report is Made.

Dayton, O., Jan. 7.—The term of Dr. Walter L. Kline, coroner, expires today when he will be succeeded by Dr. G. R. Schuster. The final official act of Coroner Kline will be his finding in the Dona Gilman murder case, which has been a subject of investigation and consideration since the commission of the crime six weeks ago. It is known that his verdict will be that Dona Gilman met her death by strangulation and that David Curtis, the degenerate, was the murderer.

Twenty-Fifth Infantry's Bad Record.

It appears from war department documents which Senator Lodge has caused to be printed in the Congressional Record that the Brownsville riot was not the first but really the fifth affair of the kind in which soldiers belonging to the Twenty-fifth Infantry had been engaged. In 1885, some of this regiment "shot up" the town of Sturgis, in Dakota Territory. In 1899 a similar outrage was committed by members of the regiment at Winnemucca, Nevada. At El Paso, Texas, in 1900, and at Niobrara, Nebraska, in 1904, there were other like affairs. In some of these murders were committed, one of the victims being a woman. Members of two of the companies discharged at Brownsville were concerned in some of these affairs. The authorities were unable to acquire information as to the guilty parties in any of these affairs, although they must have been known to many of their comrades. With the record of these five grave offenses of the same nature committed by the members of one regiment in evidence, it is no wonder that it was felt necessary to do something that would prove effective in preventing further like outrages by soldiers of this command.

TRUST SENATOR WHO CAN'T BE RE-ELECTED

Four New Jersey Republican Legislators Make the Re-election of Senator Dryden Impossible.

Trenton, N. J. Jan. 7.—All possibility of the re-election of United States Senator John F. Dryden, the insurance magnate, was practically removed Saturday by the issuance of a statement by State Senator Ackerman and the three assemblymen-elect from the contest would they consent event of Senator Dryden's withdrawal from the contest would they consent to go into the Republican caucus. This step, they said, was taken because of the prevailing sentiment among Union county people regarding the Dryden candidacy.

As the Republicans will have, but 44 of the 81 votes on joint ballot in the legislature, which convenes next Tuesday, the positive declaration of the Union county men makes it impossible for Senator Dryden to hold 41 votes, which is a majority on joint ballot.

It is now believed that as Governor Stokes has declared that he will serve out his term as governor, which removes him from the calculations, the Republicans will have to tie another man, perhaps State Senator William J. Bradley, of Camden county. The possibilities of a deadlock are not remote, either.

CONSPIRACY

Alleged Against the Peace of Cuba. Officials Involved.

New York, Jan. 7. — Rumors of a conspiracy against the peace of Cuba are again rife in this city. Three persons mentioned in connection with the plot again to foment trouble in the island were officeholders of the Palma administration, two of whom are now in New York and the other in Europe. According to these reports arms and ammunition have been shipped clandestinely from this port to Cuba for possible future use. Some of these contraband articles, it is said, were buried near Mariel, not far from Havana. This fact became known to the American authorities and a company of soldiers was sent to search for the rifles and cartridges, which, however, had been removed to another hiding place.

NEWS BUDGET ON OHIO AFFAIRS

FRIENDS OF FORAKER AND TAFT ALREADY LIVING UP FORCES IN THIS STATE.

Municipal Elections in November—Codifying Commission at Work—Thompson's Rules.

Columbus, O., Jan. 7.—Although there will be no state political convention in Ohio this year, and no election of state officers, Ohio will be full of politics and each city and hamlet will be a political center unto itself. Municipal elections in November will deal with the election of mayors, councils and minor officers. Under the laws separating state and municipal elections and abolishing spring elections, the odd years will be given over to the consideration of strictly local interests in municipalities.

Next year a presidential campaign will go hand in hand with the election of a governor and other state officials. Ohio is going to a battleground because two forces are already at work.

LEWIS C. LAYLIN, Chairman of State Codifying Commission.

In the state to secure the Republican nomination for an Ohio man. One of these forces is phalanx behind Senator Foraker, and the opposing force is gathering to the standard of Secretary Taft. This contest will assume shape in many of the local contests this year because of the vantage sought for the greater contest to follow, and in a number of cities the triumph of Foraker or Taft adherents will be like weathervanes, pointing which way the political wind blows.

There does not yet appear to be any such movement in Democratic politics. Last year Ohio Democrats in state convention pledged the state to William J. Bryan for the nomination in 1908, and unless there grows an opposition not yet discovered, the position of Ohio Democrats next year may be regarded as practically settled.

To take a brief glance backward, it will be seen that during 1906 three men occupied the office of governor in Ohio. Governor Herrick was succeeded by Governor Patterson the second Monday in January; in June the death of Governor Patterson called Lieutenant Governor Harris to the executive office, being the first time in history that three men sat in the gubernatorial chair within the same year. In legislation were added to the statutes of Ohio the 2-cent per mile railroad fare law; the act creating the new state railway commission and giving it power to prevent discrimination and extortion in charges for shipping; the abolition of the fee system of compensation for county officers; three temperance measures of first importance—the Aikin law, increasing the saloon tax from $350 to $1,000 a year; the search and seizure law, and the Jones law providing for the establishment of dry districts in municipalities by petition; the law putting an end to the piecemeal method of compensating state officers and putting them all on straight salaries; a salary law for county officials, and the law providing for one oil inspector at a fixed salary with the fees paid into the treasury, instead of two inspectors who received all the fees. Some important bills are in status quo which will come up for consideration at the session of the legislature next year.

Of more importance than the people of Ohio yet seem to realize is the work to be performed by the commission authorized at the last session of the legislature to revise and codify the laws of the state. It will amount to practically a re-enactment of the revised statutes, if the work of the commission is accepted, in which event it will be the first time for the laws of Ohio to be revised in a quarter of a century. All the obsolete laws, "dead letters" rendered so by repeal or adverse decisions of the courts, but still appearing in the statute books, redundancy of language and defects are to be weeded out, and the product of the commission's labors submitted to the legislature at the opening of next session. The existence of the commission dates from Jan. 1, and Lewis C. Laylin, former secretary of state, is its chairman. The commission is to devote its entire time to the work.

When Carmi A. Thompson assumed the office of secretary of state he called his clerical force together for a heart-to-heart talk. He laid down some rules of deportment worth mentioning. Office hours will be from 8 to 11:30 a. m. and 1:30 to 5 p. m. During office hours clerks are not to read newspapers at their desks because, the secretary explained, if there is time to read them there are more clerks than are needed. Clerks are not to smoke at their desks during office hours. One important rule announced was that papers shall be public property as soon as placed on file. Mr. Thompson says attorneys can not have papers held in secret after being filed, that documents are private so long as attorneys keep them in their own pockets, but when papers are filed in a public office the public is entitled to see what is in them.

It may be a little old, but the story of why J. J. Rowe of Cleveland declined to accept appointment as statistician in the office of secretary of state at $1,500 a year is worth repeating. He said: "I'm making more money in my present position, which is permanent. I'm not willing to sacrifice it for a political job." This announcement aroused friends of D. C. Cain of Noble county, who has been assistant statistician, to renewed activity in his behalf. There was some disappointment among them because Cain's name did not appear in the list of Thompson's appointments.

When the superior court at Cincinnati declared that the Aikin law raising the Dow tax on saloons from $250 to $1,000 per year is valid, it put a quietus on much quibble as to whether the laws enacted by the legislature during the final illness of Governor Patterson were valid because of his not having signed or "considered them" within the meaning of the constitution. The case, of course, is to be finally determined by the supreme court, on appeal from the ruling of the Cincinnati court.

Judge Wood of the Athens county common pleas court rendered a decision holding the Jones petition method of establishing dry territory in cities valid and constitutional on every point at which it was attacked by the attorneys for the liquor interests.

Cases involving both these laws are pending in several counties in the state.

When the legislature meets again the fight for an anti-cigarette law will be renewed. Dr. L. E. McFadden, member of the house from Fayette county, is planning to breathe new life into his anti-cigarette bill, which was put to sleep and never removed from the pigeonhole in the senate committee room. "I am receiving communications from friends of the measure throughout the state, and there seems to be a growing desire for a law that will annihilate the poisonous cigaret from Ohio," he said, "and if the people want my bill passed I will do all I can for them."

Governor Harris refused a request of N. G. Cochran, editor of the Toledo News-Bee, for a list, for publication in all newspapers desiring it, of persons who indorsed various candidates for appointment to the common pleas judgeship in Lucas county about to be vacated by Judge Tyler. The governor places his refusal on the ground that information concerning candidates for appointment which comes to the governor must be regarded as confidential. He thinks publicity would result in withholding from the governor the very information which he should secure.

It is said the souvenir stand operated by several convicts in the penitentiary may be abolished by Governor Harris. This stand is a matter of much dispute, and despite the fact that the state realizes a revenue of $900 a year from it, will probably have to be dispensed with in the near future. The convicts who operate the stand pay the state for the privilege and endeavor to make up from the public the cost price and also a profit for themselves. Souvenirs from the prison are sold at a high price and many visitors, who desire to take away something to remember the place, pay dearly for little trinkets.

In naming Miss Blanche E. Cadot of Toledo for matron of the Ohio building at the Jamestown exposition the commission for Ohio recognized one of the earliest families in Ohio. Miss Cadot's great-grandfather, Claudius Cadot, was the first white male child born in Gallipolis, in 1791. Her salary will be $100 per month, beginning April 1. The Ohio day at the exposition will be in June.

State Mine Inspector Harrison is making war on agents who sell oil to miners that is below the standard and therefore dangerous in mines. The report of the state mine inspector for December shows that 15 miners lost their lives in that industry in Ohio during the month. Of these nine were due to caving of earth and rock upon the men.

Another bachelor member of the present legislature is to join the ranks of the Renodicks. Joseph P. Keeley of Cincinnati, member of the house, who started the Cincinnati investigation by introducing a resolution for that purpose, is to wed Miss Cecelia Anderson Lavelle this month, according to recent announcement.

Ira I. Morrison of Akron, an assistant clerk in the house, was named by E. W. Doty, chief clerk of the house, to succeed Captain John W. Maynard, who resigned to take a clerkship in the office of secretary of state.

PLAIN MR. BRYCE OF ST. JAMES

England's Next Ambassador at Washington, Who Declined a Peerage

Democratic Statesman, Ripe Scholar and Lover of Liberty and Justice For Their Own Sake—Beloved and Respected in America Above All Other Europeans—Mountain Climbing His Recreation. How He Worked at His Masterpiece

By ROBERTUS LOVE.

MR. BRYCE is to be the next British ambassador at Washington. Observe that it is not Sir James Bryce nor James Lord Bryce. It is just plain Mister. That sounds good to an American. It is just the sort of thing that most of the 86,000,000 plain American people like. It may not suit Newport, R. I., in the summer time, but it will suit the rest of the people all the year around. The first thing James Bryce did after his appointment as ambassador to America was to decline the king's offer of a peerage. He did not need the appendage. His name already stood for a vast deal more than any title of conferred nobility could give it. It stood for democracy, as it has stood ever since the name of James Bryce, M. P., began to appear in the American newspapers.

The appointment of Mr. Bryce marks a distinct and undeniable advance in British diplomacy. Mr. Bryce is not a professional diplomat. This will be his first diplomatic post. He begins at the top. He wears his titles at the end of his name. They are academic. Heretofore we have had ambassadors from England who wore high sounding row pig trough between two sewers," and was no less complimentary to the rest of our beloved land.

Three Trips to Study America.

These and other British authors more or less distinguished who have written books about us got their information from hotel bellboys. They saw the country from the car windows. But when Dickens was writing his imperishable stories of English life and before Rudyard Kipling was born there was a boy in school at Glasgow who conceived the idea of writing a book on the great American commonwealth. The subject interested and fascinated him. He read everything he could find bearing thereon. Later, when at Oxford and a fellow of Oriel college, he continued to inform his mind regarding his favorite subject. Other literary work he had in view and performed, but that was his master work.

At last, in 1870, at the age of thirty-two, James Bryce came to America to see at first hand the great country which he had studied already for seventeen years. He saw this country pretty thoroughly, taking his time about it. Then he went home and wrote some things, but not for his book. He was not yet prepared. He titles in front of their names and walked on stilts. Some of them wore monacles. All of them were lords or sirs. Now and then one of them was as cocky as some of those British schoolboys described in Kipling's "Stalky" book. Some of them have been estimable persons despite their titles and the wide separation from common humanity which these titles necessitate, but few of them ever found their way into the hearts of the American people. Perhaps the dignity of diplomacy denies them that sweet privilege or province—and perhaps not.

Beloved and Respected.

Mr. Bryce has found already the open sesame to American hearts. It is not to be disputed that he is beloved and respected in America above all other Europeans, from kings to hod carriers. His greatest literary work, "The American Commonwealth," published eighteen years ago, is accepted universally as the finest and ablest elucidation and illumination of American institutions ever written, either in Europe or America. It is practically the only work of any importance ever written by an Englishman that is absolutely devoid of a sneer or a gibe at America. And this recalls the fact that Mr. Bryce is not really English. He is Scotch and Irish. His father was a Presbyterian divine from Glasgow, and his mother was an Irish woman. He was born in Belfast, Ireland.

It would have been almost impossible for a born Englishman to have written "The American Commonwealth." The English viewpoint and attitude are effective barriers. We remember the saucy and spittery frothings of Mrs. Trollope in her book about us. We recall the sarcastic tenor of dear Charles Dickens' "American Notes." We still retain traces of Kipling's caustic ascriptions of epithets, in which he depicted New York city as "a long, narbelonging to the professional and mercantile classes."

"The Land of the Future."

There are born Americans in New England and elsewhere along the Atlantic rim who still believe that the people of the Pacific coast states are sapping Yaboo's, but Mr. Bryce learned better a long time ago. He found other points in which the American people in his view were superior to Europeans. His whole study and investigation of the subject led him to a firm belief in the greatness and the worldwide importance of the American experiment in popular government. He called America "the land of the future."

Nobody in Europe knew very much about the United States until Bryce published his book. Even over here we knew a great deal more about our own country after that work came out. The work has been translated into several European languages and unquestionably has done the United States a world of good. Mr. Bryce is our friend to start with, and as ambassador he may be expected to maintain an attitude of friendliness rather than one of frigidity.

Mr. Bryce is an interesting personality, quite aside from his American predilections. He has been all his life an unusually busy man, as professor of civil law at Oxford university, as a practicing barrister for fifteen years, as a member of parliament and of the British cabinet, yet he has found time to see a great deal of the world outside. His recreation is mountain climbing. When Mr. Bryce wants to take a rest he goes off to some altitudinous territory and climbs a 16,000 foot mountain peak. Some years ago he climbed to the summit of Mount Ararat, on which Noah's ark is supposed to have landed. Two-thirds up the mountain Mr. Bryce's party of Kurds and Cossacks deserted him, the Persian belief being strong that no man could reach the summit. The professor went on alone, gained the summit and looked out upon a magnificent panorama which he described most beautifully in one of his books. For some time he was president of the famous Alpine club. What he does not know about mountain climbing is not important.

Mr. Bryce once had occasion to quote an article from a newspaper at Tacoma, Wash., telling the world what Tacoma had to be thankful for. In a footnote Mr. Bryce remarked: "Tacoma has one glory which the inhabitants, it is to be feared, value less than those dwelt on in the article. It commands the finest view of a mountain on the Pacific coast, perhaps in all North America, looking across its calm inlet to the magnificent snowy mass of Mount Tacoma (14,700 feet), rising out of deep, dark forests thirty miles away."

Mr. Bryce's first book was "The Holy Roman Empire," elaborated from a college prize essay. So thoroughly and illuminatively was that task performed that the young historian became at once a figure of interest in Europe. That figure has grown constantly to the present day.

Democratic Like Her Husband.

Until he had completed his masterpiece, the work on America, Mr. Bryce remained a bachelor. Then he was married to Miss Elizabeth Marion Ashton of Manchester, who was president of the Woman's National Liberal association and had lectured and written on political topics with distinction. Since the marriage it is understood that Mrs. Bryce has confined her political activities chiefly to assisting and encouraging her husband. She is said to be democratic, like Mr. Bryce. This is another occasion for congratulation upon America's part in view of the change in the ambassadorship.

It is a matter of wide notoriety that Sir Henry Mortimer Durand, the present ambassador, and his wife have become decidedly unpopular in Washington, owing largely to the point of view from which Lady Durand looks upon her social duties and privileges. In the case of Mrs. Bryce there is not likely to be any amusing episode such as inevitably must grow out of the contact of a lord and lady family with the democratic society of a courtless capital.

Why Canada Objects.

Thus far the only objection to Mr. Bryce as ambassador has come from Canada. The Dominion to the north of us is highly apprehensive lest a man of Bryce's admitted liberal views—he has been for years one of the leaders of the advanced Liberal party in England—may not handle the perplexed problems of the Alaskan boundary and the Newfoundland fisheries with that imperialistic aplomb which is characteristic of an ambassador who wears his titles in front of his name and who was baptized to perpetual diplomacy in his youth. The United States Americans believe that Ambassador Bryce, a thorough statesman, a ripe scholar, a lover of liberty and justice for their own sake, will be disposed to give the square deal in these important matters of dispute.

President Roosevelt and Secretary Root, while too diplomatic to proclaim themselves immoderately glad, are known to be at least de-lighted over this appointment. It is understood that the state department found it impossible to work satisfactorily with Sir Mortimer in connection with the Canadian disputes, and we are told from the other side that the retiring ambassador was advised by the court of St. James that his retention at Washington depended upon his getting into a relation of more brotherly familiarity with the president. The story goes that he replied to the effect that such a consummation, however devoutly wished, was impossible.

A STOCK REDUCING SALE

PRICES LAID WASTE ON WINTER GOODS

HERE is no froth in this announcement. No froth in the sale. The summary below tells at a glance what it means; what it contains and what the savings are. Its purpose is to pull down stocks to the end, that on January 15th there will be more cash and less merchandise to count—the desideratum of a successful INVENTORY. If it hadn't been for the very mild weather during the past few months there would be no sale. But now within a few weeks of Inventory, we find that stocks are heavier than they should be. In the aggregate there was scattered around through all departments an overplus of many thousands of dollars worth of Winter Merchandise. Crisp, fresh and clean as a hounds tooth. Prices were at once

Cut From 10 to 50 Per Cent

To move it out. Not a dollar of it will be carried over. The prices marked are not "for one day only." The goods reduced will STAY reduced until they are SOLD. This is a Big Sale, not a mere handful of goods. The reductions may not look "Such a much" in print, but wait till you see the goods. No miracles are promised, however, nor is everything going at a loss, although many things are on the verge of it.

We shall indulge in no such "rot" but give you a plain chronicle of money saving facts that will throng the store with purchasers. Read the lists to the end, bring the ad with you and compare the printed statement with the actual merchandise offered. Money back on every dollars worth that you purchase if not as represented. We can not publish all the bargains. First, because there are too many of them; Second, because many of the best are small lots and disappear in a few hours. The following is only an index. You must come to the store to understand the magnitude of the sale. SALE COMMENCES TOMORROW MORNING at 8 o'clock and continues until every dollars worth of Winter Merchandise is sold.

IN POLICE COURT.

Jo Gunti a Hungarian with a little too much liquor aboard, made himself a nuisance at the Warden Hotel Friday night and thereby landed in the middle of a big bunch of trouble. John Garity, the night clerk, attempted to eject the Hun but found the gentleman of foreign birth more than he could handle. A cab driver named Sprague took charge of the man and thrust him on the sidewalk in time to fall at the feet of the cops who thought a fight was in progress and locked up both men. The matter was explained Monday morning and the charge against Sprague was dismissed but Gunti drew $10 and costs for being drunk and disorderly. Gunti was thrown out once before at the hotel when he tried to invade the dining room.

Jesse Search, Billy George, Ed Frosty, Eli Ensweller and another individual were all in for being drunk and each drew the usual $5 and costs for this offense.

Hancock Frazier, who by the way is no relation to Crimpy, was brought in with George Prior. Both were charged with being drunk and disorderly. The officers testified that Prior tripped Frazier and threw him under the feet of a team of horses. Mrs. Ridenour also charged the men with profanity but the charge was not sustained. Each drew $5 and costs for being drunk.

MR. T. O. DONOVAN PASSES AWAY

FORMER PRESIDENT OF NEWARK TRUST COMPANY ILL A LONG TIME.

Body Will be Taken to Junction City, Ohio, on Wednesday Morning for Burial.

Mr. Timothy O. Donovan, former president of the Security Building and Loan Association, and its successor, the Newark Trust company, new-paper owner, real estate dealer and capitalist, for years one of Newark's foremost citizens, died Sunday evening at 6 o'clock after an illness which has affected him more or less for the past two years. Mr. Donovan died at his home, 62 West Church street, in the presence of his wife and a number of relatives.

Mr. Donovan was born in County Cork, Ireland, in 1836, was consequently 71 years old at the time of his death. He came to America alone when he was but 15 years of age. His rise from the position of a humble lad, of little means, to a successful and beloved citizen, is a striking example of strength of character and purpose, which was evident every day of his long life.

As soon as he arrived in America Mr. Donovan went to the home of his aunt and uncle in Coshocton county. After a short time there he entered St. Joseph's college in Somerset, O., where he completed his course, furnishing his necessary funds by spending his spare time at his trade, that of a brickmason.

In April, 1859, he went to Lancaster, where he was married to Henrietta McCabe, who is the only near relative surviving him. After marriage Mr. and Mrs. Donovan lived in Circleville and Shawnee where he was engaged in contracting and mercantile business, until in the early 70's, when the two removed to Newark, where they have resided ever since.

After coming to Newark Mr. Donovan was engaged in the real estate business principally; however, in 1878, a paper, called the National Advance, was published by Mr. Donovan. It was a stock company and advanced the principles of the National party. About a year later Mr. Donovan with John A. Kuster, purchased the paper outright and named it the Newark Democrat. In the spring of 1880 it was purchased by Messrs. J. H. Newton and J. A. Caldwell, and was consolidated with the Newark Advocate.

Mr. Donovan was one of the organizers of the Security Building and Loan Association, and was its president from the time of its founding, in 1891, until it was organized as the Newark Trust company. He was elected president of this latter institution which office he held until 1903, when ill health caused him to resign. He remained a director of the institution, however, until his death.

Mr. Donovan was, for two terms, a member of the city council. Later he was chairman of the Licking County Republican committee which position he held for some time. He also was connected in other ways with the growth of the city and country, holding offices of responsibility and honor.

One incident of interest is recalled by the older settlers of the city, of how, during the great railroad strike of 1877, a number of railroaders and miners were going to make a raid on the city, and it was said that they intended burning Newark's buildings if possible. A band of about a half dozen citizens, realizing the danger, started to meet the frenzied workmen. Mr. Donovan was confined to his bed, being ill on the occasion, but responded to their call and led the men to a point near Dorsey's mill, south of the city, and met the invaders. After considerable coaxing and a good meal, the miners and followers were persuaded to give up their trip and return to their various localities.

Possibly no other one man in Newark ever did so much for charity, unsolicited, and with careful avoidance of publicity, as did Mr. Donovan. He was always honest, careful and true to his friends and associates, and his death is mourned by all who have at any time come in touch with him.

The funeral will be a member of the local order of Elks.

The body will be taken to Junction City, O., for burial, leaving this city at 7:45 Wednesday morning. The funeral services will be in St. Patrick's church at Junction City, and interment will take place in the family burying ground there.

A decidedly pathetic feature in connection with the death of Mr. T. O. Donovan has just come to light.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Newark Trust company last July, a resolution was passed to the effect that a committee of three be selected that a committee of three be selected to the retiring president in appreciation of the services rendered the company, and his acting as president, for which he asked no recompense.

After much deliberation the committee met a representative of the Howard Watch company, and purchased a beautiful solid gold watch, which, by the way, is said to be one of the finest watches put out by the company. It was engraved:

Newark Trust Company
T. O. D.

In grateful appreciation of his unselfish services as president of the company.

1906

This beautiful remembrance was to have been presented to Mr. Donovan but two weeks before he was taken with this fatal illness. The directors had planned a dinner at which the presentation was to take place, but for an unavoidable reason, the meeting was delayed, and with the sad result that Mr. Donovan did not live to receive it.

Moroccan Troops Seize Raisuli's Camp After a Bloodless Fight.

OUTLAWS FLEE TO THE HILLS

Make Their Escape Despite the Elaborate Preparations of the Minister of War—Bandit Chief's Stronghold Looted and Razed by the Sultan's Forces.

Tangier, Jan. 7.—After a short and bloodless engagement, Chief Raisuli and his 700 followers succeeded in eluding capture and reaching the mountains despite War Minister Gabbas' elaborate plans to prevent their escape. The Moroccan troops looted and razed Zinat, the bandit's stronghold. The artillery, under command of an Algerian native lieutenant, whom French authorities permitted to participate in the battle on request of War Minister Gabbas, opened on the town. The Moorish gunners showed utter incapacity in handling their guns, and the infantry fired haphazard. Two shells dropped inside the fastness without reply, and thereupon a body of the sultan's troops charged, shouting, and reached the walls amid desultory shot from the surrounding brush. The gates to the town were found to be open, but there were no occupants of the place except 15 prisoners, included among whom were four Portuguese.

One detachment of the government troops continued firing in the direction of the mountains, where Raisuli and his followers were observed fleeing. Meanwhile the other government troops pillaged the stronghold, securing considerable booty in the shape of costly carpets, arms, cattle and sheep. No fatalities in the fighting are reported, though a few persons on both sides were wounded. It is thought probable that Raisuli's followers carried off their dead.

Minister of War Gabbas, who has not left Tangier during the operations, is expected will next move against the pretender to the throne, Mulai Mohammed, a brother of the sultan, from whose followers there have been many defections recently. The Spanish officers of the international police created by the Algeiras convention have arrived here.

A final attempt will be made within a few days to induce Thaw to accept an insanity plea as his defense for the killing of Architect White. Two weeks from today he will be brought to trial.

TROLLEY EMPLOYEES TO ORGANIZE RELIEF AND BENEFIT ASSOCIATION

At Meeting of Men Saturday Night Delegates Were Appointed to Go to Cincinnati Investigate Proposition and Report at Later Meeting.

An enthusiastic meeting of all the employees of the eastern division of the I. C. & E. Traction railroad, from Columbus to Zanesville, was held in Labor hall, this city, Saturday night, the meeting having been called by General Manager W. A. Gibbs. The employees in attendance were the shop and car barn men, track men and bridge men, and officers and clerks. About forty of the employees of the Zanesville city lines came up in a special car, arriving here about 8:15 o'clock.

Mr. W. C. Sullivan, who is a conductor on the Cincinnati Traction lines, and who is president of the Cincinnati Relief Association, composed of all the employees of the Cincinnati Traction company, was in attendance at the meeting and gave a talk on the workings, condition and operation of the Relief Association of Cincinnati.

General Manager W. A. Gibbs opened the meeting with an address, stating the object of the meeting, which was a preliminary meeting with the object of organizing a relief and benefit and insurance association among the employees of the I. C. & E. Traction company.

After the introductory remarks by Mr. Gibbs he introduced Mr. W. C. Sullivan of Cincinnati.

Mr. Sullivan went into the subject matter in detail, outlining the purpose of organizing the employees of the entire eastern division of the I. C. & E. into a relief and insurance association. Mr. Sullivan, during his remarks, stated that all the employees of the I. C. & E. Traction company were eligible to membership no matter how old or how young. It was the desire to have every employee a member of the association; that the association was to be governed by the employees and their officers; that an officer of the traction company could not be an officer of the association, but that traction company officers could be members of the association. Mr. Sullivan said that the Cincinnati Traction company, by its president, Mr. W. Kelkey Schoepf, donated to the Cincinnati association about $700 per month, and it is expected that he will donate liberally to this association when it is organized.

It is the purpose to organize all of the employees of the I. C. & E. Traction company from Zanesville to Columbus, Columbus to Dayton, Dayton to Lima and Dayton to Cincinnati, but not including the Cincinnati traction lines. This will give a membership of about 1500.

At the conclusion of Mr. Sullivan's remarks he called on any of the men to ask any questions they cared to, and quite a number of questions were asked by the men regarding the association.

It was announced that a delegate would be elected from the interurban employees, one from the Newark city lines, and one from the Zanesville city lines to go to Cincinnati Monday, January 7, at the company's expense, to meet with the men and officers of the Cincinnati association, to become familiar with the organization and its purpose. The delegates elected were W. B. Hahn, conductor in the interurban line; Oren Robinson, conductor on the Newark city line, and W. E. Bland, conductor on the Zanesville city lines. These delegates will meet the delegates from Columbus,

NEWARK POLO TEAM WON AT COLUMBUS

Columbus people were not caught napping Saturday night and a splendid crowd flocked to the Blue Ribbon rink, where roller polo was given an inaugural by the Blue Ribbon and Newark teams. The latter got the victory, 3 to 1, but the home team made it interesting all the way.

Newark scored a point per period. Heath, twice slipped the ball past Goal Tender Cohen, while Smart made the other score. Holding by the Newark players was frequent and the infliction of penalties for three offenses in the second half gave the Columbus team its point.

Sweetzer, the Newark goal tender, starred in his team's defense. At least a dozen times there bobbed up a Blue Ribbon chance for a goal but Sweetzer invariably blasted hope by a series of clever stops.

BASKET BALL.

O. & P. LEAGUE ANNUAL MEET

Akron, O., Jan. 7.—President Morton of the Ohio and Pennsylvania League announced Saturday that the annual meeting of the O. & P. league will be held in Cleveland January 15. The meeting was to have been held in Mansfield, but was changed to Cleveland, after suggestion to that effect by President Gray of the Lancaster club.

TRI-STATE ADMITTED.

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 7.—The National baseball commission today decided to admit the Tri-State, or "Outlaw" league to the national agreement under conditions. The principal condition is the players now under contract with this league remain where they are.

BASEBALL PLAYER WEDS.

Elmer Locke, known to the baseball fans in this locality, having played for several years in the O. P. league, took unto himself a better half Friday evening, in the person of Miss Mable May Faircliff of Shawnee. The ceremony was performed in the Probate judge's office by Squire James F. Kelly. Mr. Locke is now living at Monday, Hocking county, and has signed up with the Steubenville team for next season. He tried out with Newark last season.

Railroad detectives at Chickasha, searching for lost tools taken by shopmen, found that one employee had hauled away a locomotive cab and attached it to his house for use as a kitchen.

BLOOD POISON CURE YOURSELF AT HOME

Most persons who are afflicted with Contagious Blood Poison hesitate to go to a physician for several reasons. In the first place the expense is heavy, and they know that the inevitable treatment will be mercury and potash, strong minerals that act with disastrous effects on the delicate parts of the system, and which do not, after all, really cure the disease. What they want is a safe, reliable treatment that can be taken at home and a perfect cure made of this loathsome disorder without unnecessary exposure or expense. Such a remedy is S. S. S.—it is the only medicine that goes down to the very bottom of the trouble and drives out the last trace of the poison so that there are never any signs of its return. It does not contain a particle of mineral in any form, and after removing the disease from the circulation builds up every part of the system by its fine vegetable tonic properties.

S. S. S. attacks the trouble at its head and not only permanently cures the disease for the one afflicted, but so purifies the blood that future offspring is insured against infection. S. S. S. may be taken in the privacy of your home and a perfect cure made of this hateful and loathsome trouble. For the assistance of those who are curing themselves with S. S. S. we have prepared a special book on Contagious Blood Poison which contains instructions of great value to all blood poison sufferers. We will be glad to send a copy of this book free, and if additional instructions or advice is wanted, our physicians will furnish it without charge.

A CRESTLINE GIRL DIES OF THE BURNS RECEIVED WHILE ON A VISIT.

Vandals in Studio—Shot Through
Heart—Fire Fighters Strike—
Child Labor Law.

Columbus, O., Jan. 7.—Nettie Eckstein, a 15-year-old girl of Crestline, Crawford county, died at Grant hospital as a result of burns received from a gas fire. The girl was visiting George Norris, 1425 East Rich street, and was in the bathroom attired in a light cotton wrapper, when it caught fire. Instantly she became a human torch. Screaming, she ran through the house and into the street, pursued by Mrs. Norris and her daughter, who tried to smother the flames. In doing so both Mrs. Norris and her daughter, Miss Blanche King, received bad burns.

Due to Workman's Carelessness.
Columbus, O., Jan. 7.—The carelessness of an ignorant Hungarian is said to have been the cause of a $25,000 fire at the plant of the Columbus Chain company, South Columbus. The Hungarian wished to light the fire in the ink room and after turning on the gas he lighted a piece of paper and threw it on the burner. The accumulated gas caused an explosion. The ignited paper was blown into a bucket of oil. Another workman lost his head and dashed the bucket of oil against the side of the building, causing fire to break out in half a dozen places.

Patriotic Organization.
Columbus, O., Jan. 7.—At a mass meeting held in this city steps were taken to form a permanent patriotic organization which the promoters expect to extend not only throughout Ohio, but the entire United States. Dr. J. C. Bishop was elected temporary chairman and Mrs. Charles Nelson temporary secretary, and a committee was appointed to draft a constitution and bylaws. The object of the proposed organization is to encourage the celebration of all patriotic holidays and to foster and promote the spirit of patriotism.

Vandals in a Studio.
Columbus, O., Jan. 7.—Thousands of photographic negatives and other property to the value of $15,000 were destroyed in the Orr-Kiefer studio, on South High street, by unknown persons. A lens valued at $2,000 was torn from a camera and broken with a hammer. The proprietors have suspicions as to identity of the vandals, and the police are working on the case. The methods of destruction used by the perpetrators of the crime indicate that they have a knowledge of the photographic art.

Through the Heart.
Hamilton, O., Jan. 7.—Mrs. Lulu B. Keefe, 25, wife of William Keefe, proprietor of a brokerage establishment, killed herself. While her husband was talking to a traveling man she stepped up to him, knelt and shot herself through the heart. She was the daughter of Robert Brandenburg of Oxford, a prominent man in this section of the state. It is claimed Keefe was about to sue for divorce.

Village Firefighters Strike.
Cadiz, O., Jan. 7.—Because Mayor William T. Perry, the reform mayor of Cadiz, refused to allow members of the fire companies of Cadiz to exhibit pictures of the Gans-Nelson fight, the members of the fire companies held an indignation meeting and resigned in a body. Now the village is without a fire company for the first time in 50 years. The mayor held that the pictures were immoral.

Shooting and Stabbing Affray.
Ashtabula, O., Jan. 7.—Tony Basisto, 24, tried to steal Julia Paran, 18, and the girl's father shot at Basisto. Fred Brockhurst, who was passing at the time, received the full charge in his back and head. Twenty shots passed through the hat of his seven-year-old daughter. Paran then stabbed Basisto, who was choking and biting Julia. Brockhurst's condition is serious.

Found at Work at Night.
Columbus, O., Jan. 7.—Enforcement of the child labor laws in eight of the largest cities in the state during the holiday season resulted in 145 convictions of violators and the collection of $1,270 in fines between Dec. 5 and 24, inclusive. Many children working with permits were found at their tasks after night. This was the cause of most of the arrests.

Murdered His Wife.
Wellington, O., Jan. 7.—Oscar McAlpin, 70, shot and instantly killed his wife, 66. McAlpin and his wife separated last summer, he agreeing, upon her paying him $1,200, to leave the farm in Penfield township forever. He returned, took dinner with his family, and after dinner, when his wife was washing dishes, he shot her through the head.

Boy Under the Wheels.
Chillicothe, O., Jan. 7.—John Slater, 12, was instantly killed under a Norfolk & Western freight train in the local yards. The youngster caught the train once but was put off, and when he tried to catch it the second time he fell under. His left arm was cut off and his head was crushed.

DRILLED TO BE FOOLS.

Russian Recruits Taught That They Shall Kill and Not Think.

The Russian newspapers are taking advantage of the recruiting season to attack the stupid manner in which recruits are trained, writes Robert Crozier Long, the St. Petersburg correspondent of the New York American and Journal. This training is modeled on the saying of the late General Dragomiroff that the duty of a soldier is to kill, not to think.

The first question now put to all young soldiers by their company commander is, "What would you do if you met a Japanese?" The answer which all recruits know they are expected to give is, "Kill him." The following colloquy is given as a genuine example of what often takes place. The commander begins:

"What would you do if you met a Japanese?"
"Kill him, your honor."
"And if you met two?"
"Kill them, your honor."
"But if there were a hundred?"
"Kill them, your honor."
"One man couldn't kill a hundred. You should answer, 'I would retire honorably.'"

"I should retire honorably."
"And if you met a cow?"
"I should kill her."
"Think, fool! Why should you kill a cow?"

"I should retire honorably, your honor."
"No. You would take the cow by the horn and lead her to the stall."
"Yes, your honor, I would lead her to her stall."

"And if you met me?"
"I should kill you, your honor."
"You would kill me?"

The recruit turned red, looked stupid and, scratching his head, answered:
"Yes, your honor. Kill you first, then retire honorably and lead you to your stall."

A NEW YEAR NOVELTY.

"A Cheerful Year Book" and Some of Its Aphorisms.

One of the novelties of the new year is "A Cheerful Year Book" for engagements and other serious matters, accompanied by philosophic and moral aphorisms for the instruction of youth, the inspiration of maturity and the solace of age, by F. M. Knowles, the same being illustrated by tasteful and illuminating pictures by C. F. Lester and the whole being introduced and concluded with profound and edifying remarks by Carolyn Wells, who describes her task as "prolog-rolling." The production is a humorous picture book to keep the spirits up as the days go by, with a handy diary attached. Some of Mr. Knowles' philosophic aphorisms are as follows:

"It doesn't take much skill to write a love letter, but it may get it back."
"Some men are never so solitary as when alone with their thoughts."
"A girl in the kitchen is worth two in the parlor."

"The contented man thinks of himself not as less fortunate than some, but as more fortunate than many."

"When a boy has a fight mother says, 'Did you get hurt?' father says, 'Did you spoil your clothes?' brother says, 'Did you lick him?'"

ETIQUETTE OF LOLLIPOPS.

Bad Form For Japanese Children to Eat Sweets In the Streets.

While agitation is in progress on the question of Japanese attending American schools a sidelight thrown on the decorum demanded of Japanese school children at home is interesting, says a Seattle dispatch. The minister of education, Mr. Makino, according to Tokyo advices, recently issued private instructions to governors of prefectures concerning the behavior of school children on the streets. The minister says:

"Boys and girls are to be seen eating sweets and fruits on their journeys to and from school. This habit is to be condemned at once as very bad manners. This highly reprehensible conduct tends to impair the youthful character, and the social manners and education are likewise affected. I urge upon you, therefore, to take stringent measures to put a stop to this evil."

By Rail to the Lost Forbidden City.

A railway from Damascus to Mecca, connecting the forbidden holy city of the Mohammedans with the outside world, will be perhaps the most picturesque achievement of the world during the year 1907, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Already this line is completed as far as Medina, the second holy city of the followers of Islam, and the end is in sight. While the line is built under direct order from the sultan and while it is intended exclusively for the use of Mohammedans, especially for the convenience of pilgrims to Mecca at the time of the great annual pilgrimage, it will undoubtedly be patronized by European tourists, and it seems only a question of time before Mecca, the last of the forbidden cities now that Lassa has been opened, will be free of access to all travelers.

A Suggestion For New Year's.

Instead of making impossible resolutions in regard to reading a long list of books, why is it not a good idea to write down a list of the twelve months and put opposite each the name of a single good book that you might read to advantage? Then resolve to go through at least six of these, leaving the other six to be abandoned if they do not prove what you expect, says "Books and Reading" in January St. Nicholas. If your list is really well chosen and you do read six good books by the end of the year you will have done much for the cultivation of a taste for good reading—a taste unlike many others that one will hardly ever be able to satisfy nor wish to.

BLACK CREPE DE CHINE FROCK.

An effective and useful gown of black crepe de chine is shown in the accompanying cut. The skirt of the model was plaited and pressed flat about the hips, the lower part being trimmed with three deep tucks. The bodice had a deep narrow yoke of cream lace, lined with a single layer of mousseline. The yoke was outlined by bands of the crepe, and there was a design in hand embroidery on each side of the front across the shoulders. The lower part of the corsage was tucked. The sleeves were trimmed with points of lace standing up from a band made of little black straps over white. The girdle was of draped messaline, with three gilt buckles in the back. The little straps on the sleeves and on each side of the front yoke were also of the messaline. There was a band of the silk and a row of gilt cord about the top of the collar.

AMUSEMENTS

LILAC ROOM TONIGHT.

For a woman to match wits with the shrewdest theatrical managers, and to surpass the majority and equal the most successful in the completeness of her productions and the strength of her companies is one of the most interesting phases of contemporary dramatic history. Amelia Bingham, who comes to the Auditorium tonight with her delightful English comedy, "The Lilac Room," is the only actress who constantly moves the men managers on their own ground and makes them look sharply to their laurels. Since the days of Laura Keane, no other woman has successfully conducted a New York York play house, directing both its artistic and business policies and acting the leading roles in the productions made therein. Miss Bingham did this for two years at the Bijou and Princess theaters, saving the metropolis in that time three of the best plays of the decade, The Chrysanthemums, A Modern Magdalen, and The

Of the crowd that saw Virginia Harned at the Auditorium Saturday night, many were disappointed in both the actress and the play. Some of the people present had seen Miss Harned and knew that she is an actress of ability. They explained the deficiency of Saturday evening by the jumped at conclusion that the vehicle itself was the principal fault. The conclusion seems correct. Miss Harned is admitted to be a woman of rare ability but, like any other artist, she must have some semblance of material with which to work. "The Love Letter" seems to have absolutely nothing to offer. Sardonius failed, for once, to please with group after group of suggestive or meaningless lines, and he failed to please again, when he attempted to combine ridiculous comedy with philosophy, quite as ridiculous, on the marriage and divorce question. Miss Harned now and then got

THE LION AND THE MOUSE.

The engagement of "The Lion and the Mouse" which is scheduled for Thursday, January 10, on which date Henry B. Harris will present the Klein piece, is creating widespread interest among all classes of theatergoers of this city. It is now an established fact that "The Lion and the Mouse," is one of the most successful productions ever launched. The theme of the play is the influence of money, which are all rated against the all social problems. It is vivid and cannot fail to enlist the interest of all who see it.

away from the general character of the once long enough to let her audience know that she still retained her ability, even though it is hidden under the cloud of "The Love Letter." Virginia Drew, Tessie, William Courtney, Albert Gran, and W. J. Ferguson are among the artists who are sacrificing their ability on the piece this season.

SEVEN MURDERERS
NOW IN ANNEX

BEN DICKERSON OF COSHOCTON REGARDED AS BEST ONE IN THE CROWD.

Chosen to Occupy Separate Cell, at Night—Ben Expects to Have a New Trial.

Columbus, Jan. 7. The murderer's annex is now so crowded that the penitentiary officials have about decided to remove one man to the upper tier in the annex, where there is a row of cells, and keep him in that during the night. Hitherto, all of the condemned men have been sleeping in the big cell. The man who needs the least watching will be taken upstairs, and he is Ben Dickerson, of Coshocton, who strangled a woman to death with a wire. He is now under suspended sentence, and the Supreme court will soon hear his case. Dickerson is the best prisoner in the annex and has great hopes of being eventually released from the bond of death.

The seven murderers now in the annex are: Frank Foster of Columbus, who murdered Policeman Daniel E. Davis; Dr. Oliver C. Hugh of Dayton, who murdered his father, mother and brother; Ben Dickerson, who strangled a woman to death in a woods near Coshocton; Albert Davis, colored, who murdered his wife with a window weight in Canton; Royal Fowler, who murdered his sweetheart Mary Haggerty, in Dayton by shooting her to death, and Henry White, negro murderer of Marshal Geo. Basore of Franklin.

PERKINS INCREASES
CANAL ESTIMATES

Columbus, O., Jan. 7.—Increased cost of labor and unforeseen contingencies are given by State Engineer C. E. Perkins in his annual report to Governor Harris, along with the report of the state board of public works, as the reason for increasing by over 15 per cent his original estimates of $1,500,000 as the cost of the present improvements to the state's waterways. The plan under which the work is being done provides for a depth of five feet in both the Miami and Erie and Ohio and Erie canals. From several hundred thousand dollars a year, the canal tolls for freight have dwindled until last year they were $6,554,62. Water leases produced $27,263.33, pipe permits $24,549.82 and land rentals $37,970.68. Since 1827 the report shows that the canals have produced $4,289,927.49 from their operation more than their maintenance has cost.

DIGESTION DECIDES IT.

Good Digestion More Than Half the Battle.

Life is a ceaseless struggle for success because success is supposed to insure happiness.

Ambition and ability make for success, but without health too, failure is more than probable.

If the digestion is poor, the nerves unsteady, the blood thin, the weight less than it should be, and ambition and energy at low tide because of stomach trouble, failure is almost a certainty.

Whether you make much or little of life, whether you fail or succeed, your digestion largely decides it. If confident are W. A. Egan & Son, the Food via Tablets will give you energy, drive away that tired feeling, give tone to the digestion, improve your appetite, bring up your weight to where it should be, put new color into your cheeks and new life into your stomach, that they continue to sell this grand dyspepsia remedy on the money-back plan.

Have confidence. The guaranty absolutely protects you. Egan & Son will gladly pay you back your quarter if at the end of the treatment you have not been cured or decidedly benefited.

Family Asphyxiated.

Burlington, Vt., Jan. 7.—The entire family of George Devine, at Windsor, consisting of six persons, were killed by a gas leak which entered the house from a break in the street main through a sewer pipe.

In a presidential address at the annual meeting of the Library Association at Bradford, Eng., St. A. H. Bailey said that now and then a siskit is the preservation of one of the best methods of transmitting our best literature.

Will Be President Corey and Miss Gilman, the American Songstress.
Paris, Jan. 7.—Whether W. E. Corey, president of the United States Steel corporation, will marry Madeleine Gilman, the American singer, before he returns to the United States, can not be ascertained at present. When Mr. Corey arrived here a week ago it was understood that the wedding would not take place during his present trip, and as late as last Wednesday Miss Gilman told her friends that the date of the ceremony had not been fixed. If these plans have been changed the wedding probably will take place in England in order to obviate the vexatious formalities of the French law.

THE BURNER SYSTEM OF SANITARiums IN CALIFORNIA

PROFESSOR H. RUSSELL BURNER, M. D., whose home was for many years in Ohio—in fact, he was born at Newark, in this State—has established in California a regular chain of Sanitariums where his celebrated radium, milk and rest cure is administered. The use of radium as a curative agent owes its success very largely to the initiative of Dr. Burner. He was the largest private owner of this valuable "mineral," as it is usually termed, and he has placed his supply at the disposal of his various Sanitariums. It has been found that milk which has been made radio-active is enhanced 50 per cent as food value, and its curative possibilities can scarcely be over-estimated. All chronic diseases seem to yield readily to this form of treatment—which is modified, of course, to suit each particular case. Diseases of the throat, chest and lungs, as well as all forms of nervous troubles are promptly and permanently cured by this remarkable discovery.

California in the winter time is an ideal place to live, and of all the beautiful spots in the Golden State, certainly Los Angeles and the surrounding country can lay claim to first place. Each and everyone of the Burner Sanitariums is an ideal home of rest and beauty, as well as a delightful health-giving place. There are trained nurses, resident physicians, and everything that can be thought of to add to the health and peace of the inmate.

Two of these delightful establishments are situated at Long Beach, Cal., and three of them are in, or near the city of Los Angeles, Cal., so that the patient has the choice of any altitude, and any atmosphere that he or she may choose.

The fullest information, together with profusely illustrated literature, can be obtained from the executive office free of all charge. All correspondence is regarded as confidential and is quite promptly attended to by Dr. Burner personally.

SUMMER WEATHER IN MID-WINTER

Thermometers recorded 75 degrees at the Zanesville and P. P. during Monday's trip. SHOE COMPANY BRANCH FACTORY

G. EDWIN SMITH LEASES THE THIRD FLOOR OF ROBBINS BUILDING.

Will Begin by Employing 25 Girls—
Two Hundred Hands Work in Columbus Factory.

A new industry for Newark, which may mean much to the city in the future, is to begin operation here within the coming ten days. The G. Edwin Smith Shoe company of Columbus has leased the third floor of the building formerly occupied by the wholesale grocery firm of Tenney & Morgan, South Third street, corner of Canal, and will start by employing 25 Newark girls as sewers.

The company has quite an extensive factory in Columbus, where it employs 200 men and girls. The success of the firm has been such that it has become necessary to increase its capacity, and because of this the branch will be opened in this city.

The material will, for a time, be cut and prepared in the Columbus factory and shipped here where a large number of machines will be installed and a large amount of the sewing and finishing is to be done. The power will be furnished the factory by the Licking Light and Power company until the local business extends and enlarges, when the firm will install its own power plant.

The G. Edwin Smith Shoe company opened its factory in Columbus only about eight years ago, occupying a small room and employing only a few persons. Now, the Columbus factory is putting out 1200 pairs of shoes every day and has extended its plant until it is impossible to do so any further in the present quarters.

Repairs are being made in the South Third street building preparatory to the opening of the branch in this city.

The arrangement has been carried out through the efforts of I. M. Phillips of the Newark Real Estate and Improvement company.

COL. CRAWFORD AND KING LEOPOLD

NEWARK HORSEMAN TELLS HOW HE WAS HONORED IN BELGIUM.

By Request of King Col. Crawford
Made a Speech and He Received a Medal.

Col. George W. Crawford of Newark, who is president of the United States Horse Sales association, which will conduct its first big annual sale in Columbus, March 25, was a visitor in Columbus during the past week and at the earnest solicitation of a number of friends was induced to tell the story of "The time that he and the king of Belgium made speeches."

Colonel Crawford had gone to Belgium to attend a great horse show, having on exhibition there several horses. Instead of giving ribbons the Belgians give the winners gold medals, which were distributed, at that time, by the king. In addition to the honor of winning a medal another honor sought almost as much was meeting King Leopold, which was the most difficult thing to be attained, and for that reason almost as much a prize as the gold medals particularly by horsemen making exhibits.

It is the practice for a king to distribute the medals personally. "On the first day of the show," said Colonel Crawford, "the king came out with his staff in all kinds of style. He rode in a golden chariot, drawn by six handsome horses, and a lot of other carriages followed him. Besides nearly 100 men on horseback, members of his staff. He went up on a little rostrum about seven feet high and distributed the medals from there."

The exhibitors would bring their prize horses up and lead them past the king and receive the medal. I had a number of influential friends who were very well acquainted with the king and who had made a particular effort that I should meet him, but it looked like their efforts had been a failure and we had given up hope, but during the afternoon while I was down with my horses the king sent his staff down after me with orders that Colonel Crawford should immediately call upon the king.

"While there were 50 or 60 men I decided that if I did not go they might take me anyway, and that the best thing to do was to trot along with them and I did. They opened the way for me and I went up on the little rostrum and was introduced to the king and had a short conversation and then he asked me to make a speech to his people. Well, I had to do it."

"I turned around and stepped to the front of the rostrum and with the king standing just at my right and a little back of me I made the speech. I told the Belgians how glad I was to be in their country and what fine horses they raised and I did not forget to put in a little salve about the United States and what a fine country it was. I finished up and turned around to the king and he was smiling. Then he stepped to the front of the rostrum and while I stood back of him he made a speech and he ended it by telling how glad he was to meet this representative of such a great, good, grand and glorious country as the United States. It looked like we were pretty strong with King Leopold."

"Generally debilitated for years. Had sick headache, backache, was worn-out, and all run-down. Burdock Blood Purifiers made me a well woman."
